ABOUT

CreativeDays Stuttgart - Design.Arts.Architecture.Urbanism.

CreativeDays is a platform founded and organized by poonamdesigners Studio in 2016 in Stuttgart to promote an exchange on design, art, architecture and urbanism between local and international creatives and thinkers. It is curated by Poonam Choudhry.

Designers and architects strive to improve life for people - through design, architecture, research, creative smart solutions and urban interventions. CreativeDays promotes these ideas through various activities and provides a lively forum for inspiration across cultural boundaries.

The platform consists of a symposium and accompanying events on design, art, architecture and crafts, which take place at various locations in Stuttgart once a year in July. Young talents and students from universities are given space for an exhibition and short presentations. Companies can present themselves and network on this platform. The aim is to create meeting spaces in which current challenges can be discussed, professional discourse can take place at an international level and new collaborations can emerge.

poonamdesigners studio

The poonamdesigners studio works on an interdisciplinary basis and designs in the fields of textile and product design, interiors, spatial concepts and installations. The focus is on sustainability and the well-being of people.

The studio was founded by the designers Poonam Choudhry and Martin Bargiel in Stuttgart in 1994. Both graduated from the Stuttgart State Academy of Fine Arts. As a communication designer, Martin Bargiel is responsible for conception and corporate design and teaches design history, media and communication design. As a qualified textile designer, Poonam Choudhry brings her knowledge of textiles, materials and colours to product and interior design and incorporates her Indian roots into western design. She also publishes regularly in magazines on design and architecture and teaches design in the context of city and architecture at universities.
